13A The A. James Doyle, Jr., Trust Dated 4/19/04, Case No. 15CEPR01158
as amended and restated on 5/14/14

Petitioners state Richard Doyle and Mr. Borchardt began administering the trust thereafter and allege that they sold Mr. Doyle's home and disposed of some of his personal property and established accounts at Charles Schwab in their names as co-trustees.

Petitioners came to learn that their sister, Ms. FISHINGHAWK, had established several bank accounts at Bank of America in her name and Mr. Doyle's name as co-owners, and allege that all funds in the accounts were the property of Mr. Doyle. Petitioners further came to believe that Ms. FISHINGHAWK had misappropriated funds from the accounts, and shared their concerns with the co-trustees. After expressing their concerns, Petitioners received a copy of IRS Form 1099 reflecting that Ms. FISHINGHAWK had received $109,565 from the trust in 2014, although both co-trustees denied making payments to her or knowing that she had exercised authority over the trust and non-trust accounts and paid monies to herself.

Concerned, Petitioners requested that the co-trustees provide a written accounting of the trust on 2/11/15. Neither co-trustee has responded. Throughout 2015, Petitioners continued to express concerns to the co-trustees, to attorney Flanigan, and to Ms. FISHINGHAWK concerning management of their father's finances. Petitioners were hopeful that the family members could work out a solution among themselves without involving the court.

On or about 9/1/15, both co-trustees resigned. Presently, there is no successor trustee in place to manage assets of the trust and a vacancy exists that must be filled. Ms. FISHINGHAWK expressed that she would like to serve as successor trustee, but Petitioners disagree that she would be an appropriate choice. Further, since appointment of the Public Guardian as temporary conservator of Mr. Doyle's estate, Petitioners have been informed that there is very little cash held in his name to which the PG has access, and therefore believe the remaining cash assets are held in trust.

Petitioners respectfully request the Court order that former Co-Trustees, Richard Doyle and Thomas Borchardt, shall present an account and report of their administration of the trust commencing 5/14/14 through 9/1/15, the date of their resignation, and shall file same with the court and serve notice of hearing thereon to all interested persons; and any and all other relief the Court deems just and proper.

13B The A. James Doyle, Jr., Trust Dated 4/19/04, Case No. 15CEPR01158
as amended and restated on 5/14/14
