There does not appear to be a provision in the Probate Code that would allow an individual to assign or disclaim their right in a summary proceeding. Therefore all who succeed to the property must petition. If after all those entitled receive the property they can then transfer their interest in the property to the petitioner. 2. Pursuant to Probate Code §282 a Disclaimer of Interest acts if the disclaimant predeceased the creator of the interest (decedent). Therefore, the issue of those disclaiming would then be entitled to the disclaimed property. That is assuming disclaimers could be used in summary proceedings which it appears that they cannot.
